

ANOTHER CRIME LAID TO PERRY.

Suspected Boston "Sluggers" Also Will Be Charged with the Murder of Agnes McPhee When Arraigned.

BOY SAW HER STRUCK DOWN.

Watch Chain Given to Sweetheart Also an Incriminating Bit of Evidence—She Is Expected to Be Important Witness.

(Special to The Evening World.)
BOSTON, Nov. 14.—When George Perry, the alleged "Boston Sluggers," under arrest for the murder of Clara Morton at Waverly, is arraigned in court next Tuesday he will also be charged with the murder of Agnes McPhee.

Carl Johnson, a small fifteen-year-old negro, is under arrest, and the police think he will be able to make startling revelations concerning the McPhee case, and that this instead of the Morton murder will prove the strongest case against Perry.

Johnson was arrested after he had told stories of the McPhee murder to the newspapermen. He is said to have been with Perry on the night of the murder and to have told of seeing a woman struck down. It may be that he was a witness of the McPhee murder.

When examined by the police he trembled with fear and denied the stories he had told to outsiders. He told the officers that he had been with Perry and that they had planned to rob a grocery store.

In the boy's pockets were found various newspaper clippings, all concerning Perry or the "Boston Sluggers" and the recent murders.

In addition to the evidence which the police expect to get from Carl Johnson eventually, it is said that they are in possession of other strong proofs of Perry's guilt.

Perry unwittingly weaved the net around himself by requesting his sweetheart to return the watch chain, since identified as Miss McPhee's, to his mother. Had he not intrusted this letter to his father, the startling developments in the McPhee case would not have arisen.

The young woman who had the chain will probably be the most important witness for the State. An effort will be made to learn from her just when and under what conditions she received the chain from Perry.

The police who are working on the case say they do not want Thomas Jenkins, the colored man who has been arrested in New York for offenses similar in character to the outrages of the "Boston Sluggers," as they are convinced he had nothing to do with the crimes here.

LOST OR STOLEN, ONE SET OF TEETH.

Knew She Had Them at Lunch and Is Sure She Didn't Swallow Them.

Though she "were 'em all the time" she was eating her luncheon at O'Neill's restaurant on Sixth avenue and Twenty-second street, Mrs. Anna Jen, who keeps a candy store at No. 134 Edgecombe avenue, says that the set of false teeth were lost or stolen while she ascended the stairs to the "L" station, for when she reached the platform they were gone.

Mrs. Jen is confident that some one, seeing her advertisement inserted in the newspapers, can aid her in the recovery of the much needed "store teeth."

"I know I had 'em with me when I was in the restaurant," she asserts today, "for didn't I eat with 'em? Eh? I don't remember havin' tasted anything while there that resembled 'em, either."

ARRESTED AS A GAMBLER.

Detectives Had No Evidence Martin Was Expelled from France.

Charles Martin, of No. 12 West Twenty-seventh street, was arraigned before Magistrate Flammie in the Jefferson Market court, today, charged with being a "suspicious person" by Detective Sergeant Strick and Conway. They said they believed Martin to be one of the American gamblers expelled from France. Martin admitted that he had been in France, but there was no evidence against him and he was discharged.

SLUGGER PLEADS GUILTY TO THEFT.

Negro, Suspected of Many Attacks on Women, Admits One for Which He Was Arrested.

Thomas Jenkins, the negro who is supposed by the police to be a New York "Sluggers" and an accomplice of the alleged Boston "Sluggers," George Perry, was practically identified in Capt. Lantry's office this morning by Mrs. Orvetta Boese as the man who made an attack on her and her daughter several nights ago when they were returning from the theatre.

Jenkins pleaded guilty in court today to his attack on Mrs. Stewart and was held in $2,500 bail.

During the last week many complaints have been received by the police of a mysterious "Sluggers" who was attacking and robbing women in dark, lonely streets.

After a chase by Policeman Sullivan, who says he saw the negro snatch a chateaubag from Mrs. Addie G. Stewart and run, Jenkins was arrested. Mrs. Stewart, however, was not in court to identify him.

Because of the similarity of the outrages of the "Boston Sluggers" and the New York "Terror" detectives have been sent on from Massachusetts to see if Jenkins is an accomplice of Perry.

Capt. Lantry said this morning that all yesterday there was a constant stream of women coming to his station-house to identify the "Sluggers." During the entire day, he said, thirty-two women called upon him and told him of attacks made upon them in the lower Central Park District and as far east as Third avenue.

ACID FOR DESPONDENCY.
Despondent because of poor health and the loss of his position Richard Geipel swallowed carbolic acid at Seventy-first street and Second avenue early today and was carried to the Pennsylvania Hospital, where it is likely that he will recover.

Patrolman Murray saw the man at the corner and watched him as he raised the bottle to his lips. He thought the man was taking a morning drink and paid no attention to him until he saw him drop to the ground after walking half a block. In falling the bottle was broken. An ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, where he remained unconscious for several hours. When he regained his senses he told his name and said he lived at No. 49 Franklin street. He was employed there by Morris Benas until five weeks ago and slept in a room over the store. Five weeks ago he was discharged and Benas says he has not seen him since.

MRS. GEORGE, WHO WAS AN AUSTRIAN BARONESS.

WANT NINE-HOUR DAY.
The Housewreckers' Union, formed yesterday and composed of men who tear down buildings, has made a general demand for a nine-hour work day.

He spoke often of the Waldorf-Astoria and I went there, but was badly treated by the clerk. He knew my husband, but laughed at me when I said I was his wife. Then I went to the Burlington.

Mrs. George says that unless she soon heard from her husband she will go to see his mother, who lives in Providence.

When she started for America he followed, and on the steamship they were married by the Rev. Father Healy. They landed in Philadelphia and remained there a week.

Mrs. George says her husband was afraid his mother would be offended at his sudden marriage and they kept it secret.

My husband left me on Oct. 31 to go to Indianapolis," she said, "and I received a telegram from him telling me he was well and had written me a letter. I did not receive it and then I discovered he had taken our marriage certificate and a draft for $40,000, which represents an inheritance that came to me two months ago, when I came of age. I stopped payment on the draft and came to New York in search of my husband.

She told her aunt, it is said, that the teacher said she must be adopted by them and that her father must relinquish all claim to her before she could go to school in America. Superintendent Maxwell says the child said her father lived in America and gave a fictitious address as her home. When the deception was found out she was sent home.

Little Augusta Hoffenberg has been excluded from Public School No. 53 and her friends say she is being persecuted. Superintendent Maxwell says the child was sent home because she told a falsehood to the principal when she entered the school.

Augusta is eight years old, and came from Austria two years ago to live with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Huber, at No. 321 East Seventy-ninth street. She was bright in school and has learned to speak English fluently. She was ambitious to study and was heart-broken when sent home.

Hold Up Java Steamer.
The Russian steamer Baron Driesen arrived here today from Java ports, laden with sugar, and is detained at Quarantine for observation and disinfection. There were two deaths among the crew during the voyage.

SAYS BRIDEGROOM TOOK HER $40,000.

Noblewoman, Bride of a Few Weeks, Says Her Husband Robbed Then Deserted Her.

Of noble birth and a bride of a few weeks, Mrs. Frederick S. George has come to New York from Philadelphia in search of her husband, a well known broker, whom she claims has deserted her after attempting to defraud her of an inheritance of $10,000.

Mrs. George was the Baroness von Schaumburg Tiele, the daughter of an Austrian nobleman, and her romantic marriage following a Latin Quarter courtship in Paris took place on the Red Star line steamship Belgenland only a month ago.

She says she met Mr. George at a students' ball and he paid devoted attention to her. Her mother did not like him, but he told her he was a wealthy New York broker and she believed him and reciprocated his apparent affection.

When she started for America he followed, and on the steamship they were married by the Rev. Father Healy. They landed in Philadelphia and remained there a week.

Mrs. George says her husband was afraid his mother would be offended at his sudden marriage and they kept it secret.
